

Dear Mr. Powell,

There has been a great outpouring of public concern over this media deregulation. The FCC seems not to care, what the American people want. The FCC will not take phone calls and when we try to use the website, it is crashed. It seems you are trying to sneak this through in the dark of the night. The FCC is servicing the media industry, not regulating it. We need an oversight committee for the FCC. With this degree of media concentration, the free press becomes a joke. And they tell us the air waves belong to the people. I think not!

Sincerely,

Mary Russo
